Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Book Called Job: From the Hebrew, With Foot Notes Of late years a new translation of the Scriptures from the Originals has been loudly called for: that is, a translation irrespective of our present English versions - the Douay, and Rheims Roman Catholic English versions, and of our authorized English version called the King James version. No such work has yet appeared. Having been engaged near twenty years, since I left office, in the study of the Scriptures in the languages in which they were written, and published a work a result of such study, I have prepared a translation of the Hebrew of the Book called Job into English. To show the variant renderings of some passages, the Roman Catholic Douay English of them, and the Diodati Italian of them rendered into English, are given in notes at the foot of the page; also the English of many passages, or parts of verses, as given in Gesenius s Hebrew and English Lexicon, the best beyond comparison; also in some passages, the English of them as given in the version of the Book of Job by George E. Noyes, the title page of which is: A new translation of the Book of Job, with an Introduction, and notes chiefly explanatory; also in some passages, the English of them as given in the version of Job published by the American Bible Union, the title page of which is: The Book of Job. From the original Hebrew on the basis of the Common and earlier English versions. A copy of which latter work was sent to me by a clergyman. The design of the writer of...
