The winter is past, the rain is over and gone. The flowers appear on the earth, the time of the singing of birds is come, and the voice of the turtle is heard in our land. Poets have greeted thy return, sweet May! in every age and country;--and here let us follow their advice: -- Be cheerful: be full of mirth: for the Spring passes soon away, it will not last. We will repair our summer-bowers when the almond-tree sheds its silver blossoms: we will listen for the tale of the nightingale, as the vernal season approaches. In modern times, however, joy and gladness are reduced to mere sentiment: and with some degree of envy we read of the Floralia, or games in honour of Flora, of ancient times: and of Maid Marian and Robin Hood, c--all now banished to their native woods:...
