To: Chief of Ordnance. Subject: Annual report of Tests of metals, etc., for year ending June 30, 1916. 1. The annual report of tests of iron, steel, and other materials made at this arsenal during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1916, is submitted herewith. 3. The work of the laboratory has been divided as in former years among the following classes: A. Routine testing of manufactured and purchased material and tests in connection with current operations of the arsenal. B. Investigative tests. - 1. Material submitted to the department claimed to be of novel or superior value for its use. 2. Material which has developed defects in manufacture or service. C. Research. - Instituted for the purpose of improving ordnance materials, or the technique of their manufacture. D. Private tests. - All tests of the above classes are herein reported in such detail as the nature of the tests and importance of included information appear to justify. 4. The following investigations have been initiated and valuable intermediate results obtained, but are not as yet sufficiently completed to permit submitting any report this year: (a) Effect of mass on properties obtained by quenching. (b) Investigation of arbitration bar. (c) Investigation of significance of the Charpy shock test. (d) Study of heat treatment of nickel-chrome steels. (e) Determination of occluded gases in cast and forged steels. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
